9. Statement of Project Goals and Objectives: (max. 7 lines) This 5 year project is designed to (1) Provide area youth a safe and supportive first work experience that incorporates education and mastery of basic employment skills including communication, conflict resolution and leadership, while promoting development of an individual work ethic and an understanding of resource management issues. (2) Support the long-term economic stability of the region through enhancement of timber and recreation resources on BLM plantations. (3) Manage plantation units for reduction of fire through thinning, pruning and creation of fire breaks. (4) Increase diversity of habitat for flora and fauna of region.

10. Project Description: (provide concise description of project and attach map.) (1) Over the past 5 years, NYC has employed 125 Douglas County youth in our Conservation Corps programs. Requested funding will allow NYC to continue to provide employment opportunities for youth in Douglas County by supporting the recruitment and employment of over 20 local youth annually. In addition, annual funding will directly support fifteen (15) crew weeks of work (440 project hrs/week) on the designated projects. The NYC program is a regionally recognized leader in youth development complete with an educational curricula and links to local high schools. NYC programs have excellent safety records, comprehensive safety programs, and emphasize teamwork and community development. The NYC program serves as a conduit for youth to gain experience in the natural resource field, many times moving into seasonal and full time positions with federal/state/and local resource agencies. Over 90% of NYC program participants reported significant increases in their ability to: (1) work hard, (2) work safely, (3) communicate with others, (4) take responsibility for their actions, and (5) cooperate in a team effort..

- (2) Youth crews will complete pruning projects on pre-commercially thinned stands. 100 of the most dominant trees per acre will be pruned to a height of 10 feet to improve wood quality and decrease susceptibility to damage from catastrophic fire.
- (3) Work projects will reduce the current fuel ladder and allow debris to mulch, decreasing fire susceptibility.
- (4) Reduction of canopy provides open flyways and habitat connectivity for neotropical birds, increase forage areas for game fauna, and increases flora diversity through increased light on forest floor.

f. Other (specify):

15. Estimated Completion Date: [Sec. 203(b)(2)] Estimated project completion date will be 10/15/06. Youth Crews will work on projects between mid April through mid October each year for five years.

16. Target Species Benefited: (if applicable) (max. 7 lines) Improvement of Douglas Fir (Pseudotsuga menziesii) and other minor forest tree species for improved wood quality, wildlife habitat, and fire hazard reduction.

17. How will cooperative relationships among people that use federal lands be improved? [Sec. 2(b)(3)] (max. 12 lines)

Local communities and adjacent land owners will benefit from this project as reductions in forest fuel inventories make their property less susceptible to damage. Subsistence and recreational hunters will find improved habitat for game species. Local communities will have more productive forest areas which will provide quality timber for sustained forest production work. Nature enthusiasts will be able to experience more diverse and prolific wildflower and other native flora and fauna species through increased sunlight on forest floor.

18. How is this project in the best public interest? [Sec. 203(b)(7)] Identify benefits to communities. (max. 12 lines) SEE ATTACHED LETTERS OF SUPPORT

Youth will be introduced to outdoor education, positive living skills, and a productive work ethic. Teens will learn essential job skills and receive training that will enhance their ability to make a positive impact in the communities in which they live. Youth from the region will be exposed to local resource management issues and the challenges facing Oregon's resource management agencies and industries. Local communities will benefit by offering youth employment and development opportunities. Teens earn a stipend based on $6.75/hr for an average of 37 hrs/week for a period of 4-6 weeks. The timber stand improvement will ensure a healthy resource for future harvesting and related employment. Fire fuel reduction efforts decrease severity of fire damage to forest resources.

19. How does project benefit federal lands/resources? (max. 12 lines)

SEE ATTACHED LETTER OF SUPPORT

Projects will increase timber stand monetary value and landscape diversity. Youth Corps programs expose youth to diverse careers within federal agencies and enhance better public understanding of agency mandates, organization, and mission. Through the existing Cooperative Agreement with Oregon BLM, the use of Northwest Youth Corps crews greatly reduces the cost of contract preparation and administration by agency personnel.

Ethan Nelson

Dear Mr. Nelson:

It has been a pleasure working with the Northwest Youth Corps (NYC) over the last several years. Some of the projects NYC has worked on for the South River Resource Area of the Roseburg Bureau of Land Management since 1997 include:

- Pruning Douglas-fir test sites and reforested plantations;
- Construction of fences;
- Paper mulching plantations to control vegetation;
- Installation of vexar netting and tubing to protect seedlings from deer and elk;
- Demolition of abandoned mining cabins;
- Pulling and disposal of noxious weeds; and
- Construction of fire trails.

On all of the projects listed above the NYC has performed in the most professional manner. All work was completed accurately, safely and ahead of schedule. All of the NYC equipment is high quality and well maintained. NYC crew leaders possess excellent communication skills and are always polite and courteous with BLM representatives. The NYC crews seem genuinely interested in the work and have made excellent suggestions on how to improve the quality and efficiency of the project. The NYC provides work experience and the opportunity to work outdoors for local youth. I am always pleased when funding is available for the NYC to do area projects.

Recently your office contacted me seeking sponsorship for natural resource-related work projects. We have identified a need for pruning on approximately 600 acres per year, over a five year period, in the South River Resource Area. Enclosed is a list of units that cover 3,143 acres. The NYC is willing to commit the human resources necessary to complete the proposed project. In addition to completing a silvicultural project they could also complete "Wildland Urban Interface Fuels Hazard Reduction" work, planned for in conjunction with the pruning project.

All pruning proposed on the enclosed plan would occur on matrix lands within the South River Resource Area and have been pre-commercially thinned. One hundred of the most dominant trees per acre would be pruned to height of ten feet to improve wood quality and maintain an open stand. Without pruning, a fuel ladder exists from the ground to the canopy making the stand susceptible to severe fire damage. Pruning would also provide open flyways through stands for neotropical birds and could enhance habitat connectivity between adjacent stands.

Should funding become available, we would welcome the opportunity to work with NYC in accomplishing these projects.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

Subject: The Northwest Youth Corps

It is with great pleasure that we extend to all the good report of an organization which singularly stands above others in its concern for our society, our culture, and our youth. In the summer of 2001, our daughter, Stephanie Clubb, became a team member of the Northwest Youth Corps, ostensibly to procure "a summer job in the outdoors." The requirements of the position included desire, perseverance, and stamina for various forestry-related and wetland-related assignments designed to improve the natural appearance and conditions of those areas.

Within a short period our daughter was relating to us her experiences of unique opportunities which accomplished the apparently impossible, at least to teenaged observers. She spoke of clearing hillsides of flammable brush, creating negotiable grades for hiking trails, making forests wheelchair-accessible, saving trees from toxic ivy, and wetland upgrades. Moreover, her continual theme regarding the Northwest Youth Corps' objectives were of wonder and amazement at what can be done not only for the environment, but for those youth involved in their fine work. Our daughter spoke with new-found confidence at the series of tasks which had been accomplished, and at those which lie before her. The positive effects upon her personality were obvious and glaring. Whereas her initial perception of difficult projects presented to her and her team centered around a "...no way can this be done" opinion, it became a near revelatory change to Stephanie...she could now accomplish whatever she put her mind toward doing. And inasmuch as her tenure with the Northwest Youth Corps directly preceded her entry into college, Stephanie had discovered a level of confidence in herself which has given her uncounted skills in dealing with the real world.

Only a small exercise in reason prompts us conclude that our daughter is only one recipient among many who have been involved in the good work of the Northwest Youth Corps. We personally witnessed many involved and motivated youth in the process of real, observable accomplishment, an outcome so vital to today's teenager's self-esteem. Moreover, the communities in which the Northwest Youth Corps has provided services have seen the wondrous effects of the projects completed by their employees. And finally, our accolades go to the management team of the Northwest Youth Corps for its professional motivational skills which so benefited our daughter and her fellow team members. It is a tough job what the Northwest Youth Corps does, and we shake our head in amazement that they are able to do so much, with so much positive outcome and good for our community.

Sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. Steven L. Clubb

Dear Youth Corps:

My daughter, Kelli Callahan, recently completed the June-July session of Teens and Trails. I want to thank you for giving her the opportunity to have this experience.

Your program is absolutely wonderful! Kelli came into our family three years ago from an unfortunate and chaotic background, and has made enormous strides. We are extremely proud of her. The NYC experience added to her self-esteem, taught her work ethic, and gave her education and experience with the outdoors that is invaluable. The pride in her eyes when she opened a bank account with her paycheck is something I'll not soon forget, but as Kelli herself said, NYC is about more than money.

The team leaders that we met on Parents Weekend were kind, compassionate, tough and enthusiastic all at once - with that necessary sense of humor. What a great crew!

I am a case manager at Adult and Family Services, and will be recommending NYC to families with teenagers. You do a great job, and thank you again for giving this opportunity to Kelli.

Sincerely,
